

Abstract of the Disclosure

The invention relates to humanized biomaterial comprising a porous biocompatible composite material customized and implanted with monocyte derived cells preferably with macrophages.